

Chapter 6: Site Preview**WIP

Last Updated Sunday, 19 November 2006

A Site Preview function has been provided to enable you to view the progress of your work on your site. Choose "Site --> Preview" from the Administrator menu gives you three choices:

- new window
- in-line
- in-line with positions.

Choosing any of these options, the home page of your site is displayed. The first choice, "New Window" opens a new browser window to view the Front-end of your site.

The second choice, "In-line", you view the Front-end of your site inside an IFrame window within the existing window of your Browser.

The third choice, "in-line with positions," shows your home page template with the names of the various blocks ("User3," "Right," "Left," "Debug") displayed rather than the material that goes into those blocks.
